

European Gamma and Ancillary Detectors Network REPORT

Deliverable 5.1

Setup of website. The EGAN website <http://egan.inl.infn.it/> has been developed and continue to be updated. In this site, all the activities of the scientific committee and working groups and there composition are described.

A link to the websites of the different EGAN workshops, training courses and other activities is available.

The access to the document server allows to download all the documents and minutes of the different meetings.